Global Bioethics
IU Center for Bioethics 2015 Spring Seminar Series

As part of its ongoing commitment to studying ethical issues in international health and research, the IU Center for Bioethics, in partnership with the IUPUI Medical Humanities and Health Studies Program; the IU Hall Center for Law and Health; the IUPUI Office of International Affairs; and the IU Center for Global Health will convene an 8-part seminar series on Global Bioethics, the goals of which are to:

- Provide a venue for in-depth discussion of emerging (and persistent) ethical issues in global health;
- Identify gaps in knowledge and practice that present research and collaboration opportunities;
- Develop and expand local capacity.

These are some of the topics that will be discussed—some from the academic literature, some from the media, and other issues emerging on the ground. Each seminar will be moderated by an expert IU faculty member. All seminars are accessible via URL for those who cannot attend in person, and all seminars (including resources) will be archived on the IU Center for Bioethics website (www.bioethics.iu.edu).

Dates: January 16 and 30; February 6 and 20; March 6 and 27; April 10 and 24
Time: 11:30AM to 12:30PM
Location: IU Center for Bioethics Conference Room 3139, HITS Building, 410 West 10th St, Indianapolis, IN

Join us for our first session, “Introduction to Global Bioethics” led by Eric Meslin, PhD, on January 16th!

Who Should Attend
- All faculty, affiliates, staff, and students with an interest in international health ethics

The seminar series is supported by NIH Grants #2 R25 TW006070-05; #UL1TR001108
For more information contact: Christopher Carter (cartchri@iupui.edu) or Josh Rager (jbrager@iupui.edu).